- Sept 5,6,7 PARINUWEAP Powell Centennial Hike
  Sat-Mon Between September 10th and 12th 1870, Major Powell and a small party coming up from Kanab entered what is now the east-fork of the Virgin River and began to explore the canyon. The Indian name of the canyon is Paru'uweap or Roaring Mater Canyon. In places it is similar to the Zion Marrows but with a more interesting river. You can read a vivid description of Powell's journey in his book "The Exploration of the Colorado River and Its Canyons".

With permission of the National Park Service, we are planning to place a small plaque commemorating Powell's exploration at the most exciting place in the canyon, right where the river, shooting through a channel no wider than 3 feet, has a waterfall more than 40 feet deep.

If you haven't seen this canyon with its beautifully colored narrow walls and its abundance of tumbling springs of cold, clear water and a virgin vegetation, you have not seen Zion National Park. A small group went down this canyon a year ago and Kathy Kellet gave a colorful account of that trip in the October 1969 Rambler. Total distance to hike is about 25 miles.

This is the trip of the year! Don't miss it. We will take the bus to avoid a long shuttle. No Zion Narrows hike is presently being planned. (Bus fare is still only $13.00). Register early with Fred Bruenger 485-2639 before September 2nd.

BOX ELER PERK

by Gerhard Henschel

The summer had moved in over night. The sky turned blue and the temperature reached 86° in the Valley during that Saturday, May 16th. There was a lot of snow in the mountains and it was several feet deep on the ridges and we had to take a long steep ridge to get to the peak.

Dick Bell was our leader. It was hard tracking. Roger Siglin and I took turns in relieving Dick from the toil; the snow broke just before one put the last bit of weight on the next foot. The higher we got, the deeper we broke in. It was fun watching each other sink into the snow and then trying to get back out.

We got hungry. Twice during the climb we rested and ate. After 6 1/2 hours came the reward: the beautiful view down into the valley and Utah Lake - over to Mt. Timpanogos and, even further to the left Heber Valley in the distance - and of many white peaks all around.

A cold wind was blowing at the peak, and nobody felt like digging out the register from I don't know how many feet below the surface of the snow. So after a little rest we started back down the ridge we had come up. Now we broke in even deeper up to the waist; our pants got soaking wet. At the first saddle we left the ridge and slid down the slopes: Roger tried it on his back - head first. We finished the hike tired and happy at 5 p.m., thanking Dick and the weather for a great day. Participants were: Dick Bell, Ted Thaxton, Roger Siglin. Mike Dalton, Lyman Lewis, Bill & Ronny Rosecliff, Ivan Cendese and Gerhard Henschel.

MT.MDESTIC

by Rebecca Price

Elmer Boyd led 15 hikers through the retreating snow up the mountain in a pleasant combination of sun and cool breezes. This was billed as an easy short hike which it probably is when the trail is dry and can be found, but today the exposed trail was hidden along the ridge near the top of the mountain. Most of the ascent was entirely on snow. We lost one hiker, who had worm sneakers, to the wet snow and cold. She elected to wait along the trail for Sara to return. Sara, who was not out to make any hiking records, but "to see that everyone enjoyed the hike, " remained as rear leader for those of us who like to hike slowly and pause to enjoy the scenery more often than our counterparts. Kay and Rebecca decided. within "400 feet" from the top that the scenery looked more interesting and besides Rebecca was having trouble with a tired muscle in one leg, so they sat down to wait for the others to return.

The down route was easier with a few enjoyable "sit slides" to shorten our descent. We straggled in to our base at Brighton at approximately 1 p.m.. A group of seven visited the Wasatch Club Lodge and stopped at the Majestic Inn for drinks and interesting conversation.

Time for hike: 4 hours. Those who attended: Frank Atwood, Rebecca Price, Kermit Earle, Stan Rowband, Dr. Sidney Velick, Bill Drake, Martha Velick, Tina Langhtz, Ivan Cendese, Elmer Boyd, Lynn Landmasser, Pilter Guillermo, Jean Torreyson, Kathy Fjeldsted, Shelley Hyde, and Leader, Sara Weller.

Know Your Wasatch Week is over! At this point we might ask, what was accomplished, what was gained? I am not certain of the answers to these questions, but I can comment on the various events that took place.

The Pencake Breakfast was organized by Barb Lovejoy and Denna Wright. I am not certain if I even know everyone who helped out on that event; it was a big job. Barb told me she served something like 350 people. Senator Moss was there and said a few words about conservation. Congressman Burton and Governor Rampton were also invited, but were unable to attend. Following the Pancake Breakfast the nature walks started at the meeting of the glaciers area. I would guess attendance was around 35 people. Nick Strickland helped organize the guides for this event.

The first of the evening lectures started that evening with Gale Dick talking largely about hiking in the Nasatch. The Climbers demonstrations on rock climbing in the evenings before the talks. Attendance varied considerably on these, but there was generally some kind of an audience. Max Townsend oreganized the climbers.

The evening lectures were of uniformly high quality. In addition to Gale Dick, Dean Brimhall talked about the early days of climbing in the Wasatch and donated to us a number of pictures of winter climbs in the Wasatch done largely in the late teens and early 20's. Armand Eardley gave a nice talk on the geology of the Wasatch and Walter Cottam followed with the plants. The mammals of the Wasatch were discussed by Rey Remund, who showed movies largely of moose and buffalo (technically not in the Wasatch, but interesting to see). Hal Lamb ended the series with a beautifully illustrated talk about birds, featuring some excellent close-ups. I would estimate attendance at each of the evening talks was around 75-100 people.

The senior citizens' day was organized by Wolf and Elfrieda Snyder and Carl Bauer. I understand they had approximately 30 guests at the lodge for a slide program and short hikes.

The After-Hours Sunset Hike was organized by Oscar and Phyllis Robison. We expected a low turn-out for this event and we were not disappointed. I think the assistants out numbered the guests, but it was a nice hike anyway.

Louise Hollander and Diana Schoenberg hosted Ladies' Day at the Lodge, which featured short hikes and free baby sitting. The attendance was approximately 30.

The Canyon Clean-Up Day was organized by George and Linda Rathbun, and Bill and June Viavant. I would estimate about 50 people participated. Many of you saw the heap of litter collected from Big Cottonwood and Millcreek Canyons. It was a veritable pile, but it was a pity there was not a larger turnout here, because so much more could have been done.

The Central City Children's Day featured short hikes and free lunch for the kids at the lodge. Organized by June Wickham, this was one of the better attended functions. Noreen Ogden, Denna Wright, and Barb Lovejoy did all the cooking. Over 120 children made the trip to the lodge and participated in the program.

The Moonlight Hike had about 60 participants and was organized by Dick and Joan Snyder. Everyone had a fine time from what I heard.

In addition to the above people. many others provided organizational help. Noreen Ogden did much of the original organizing and obtained "volunteers" to head the various activities, as did Benita Jackson, who also handled the publicity. These two people but in a fabulous amount of time and effort. John MacDuff kept Storm Mountain going and did new posters daily. Liz Choules also made posters. Sally and Phil Nelson and Kay Berger prepared the program. Gerry Powelson was the transportation chairman and provided bus services when needed. Dotty Byrne organized the phone answering service and Laura Conner maintained the information table at Storm Mountain. I know I have forgotten many people who helped, and to them goes the special award of "unknown volunteer".

A few masochists have been heard to utter that it would be great to make this an annual event. I usually sneaked away when I heard that sort of talk, but it could be done. Everyone learned a great deal from the experience. Primarily we found how difficult it was to get people out. Benita did a great job getting publicity, and we were afraid we would be overwhelmed. This did not happen however, and in spite of radio, TV, and newspaper coverage on a lot of the events, greater public participation would have been desirable. The events themselves were all of uniformly high quality, people were well-organized and knew what they were doing. The Club has plenty of talent and I was happy to participate with all the people who made it possible.

In conclusion, I think a few people in the community nowknow that there is a wMC, who didn't know it before. Some people certainly got the message that the wasatch is a great place, and that we are going to have to take measures to help keep it that way. I have received many calls about the program from all sorts of people, without a single unfavorable comment. Thanks again to everyone who contributed to the program.

Friday evening, June 19th, saw the participants camped either on the approach to Orderville Canyon, or in Zion Canyon itself. By 7 a.m. Saturday breakfasts were out of the way, and by 3 a.m. the group was assembled at the head of Orderville Canyon and underway. Incidentally, Friday night was made really glorious by a full moon, with about one million candle power. It was some sight when it rose above the canyon walls, a great thrill.

Cur leader, hereinafter called Moses, but formally known as Fred Bruenger, started the Israelites down canyon on a beautiful warm morning. It was necessary to use a rope to get into the canyon itself, due to the very steep sides at the beginning of the hike. This saved much time in the starting gate, so to speak and acquainted many of us with the use of the rope, which came in very handy later in the day.

For those who have never had the great privilege and pleasure of being there. let it be said that the start of this wonderful trip begins in very picturesque country, rather heavily wooded with pine, where the canyon widens out in various places. lots of grass and vegetation is present. It was warm, but not uncomfortably so, as we got under way. After several miles of walking in the canvon wash, in fairly open canyon country Moses led us into the wilderness. but instead of parting the sea to let us pass, he parted solid rock walls to lead us out of Egypt.

A more dramatic and interesting hike would be hard to find. As we descended lower and lower, the walls got closer and closer together and one can readily understand the danger of flash flooding in this area. Our first really steep descent, just after our first rest stop, led us from the comparitively wide and wooded canvon. into the chasm. At this first stop, we were in the shade of beautiful Ponderosa Pine, which we were not to see again except by looking up from 500 to 1500 feet where they hung on the sides of the canyon above the gorge. This in itself was a matter of great interest to all of us, as many of the pine so far overhead grew out from the all of the canyon at unbelievable angles in order to get to the sun. Often one could look up many hundreds of feet, from the deep shadows of the canyon floor, and see in brilliant light, the forest gleaming in the sunlight. BEAUTIFUL!

As we progressed further toward the Virgin River Canyon, the Orderville Canvon became narrower and narrower with weird bends and formations, with interesting erosion patterns, and with logs lodged above the canyon floor, from wall to wall, left there by floods. If my memory servesme correctly, we made four rope descents under the ever careful supervision of Fred Bruenger. To a beginner it was wonderful to have so much competence at hand, which was so ably displayed by our leader. Jim Byrne was also a tower of strength in the sticky places and in one place we had the option of going down by rope, or using the "Byrne" elevator technique, which consists of placing all of your weight in his hands, claw like mad with your fingernails, and end up on terra firma, bless it. Speaking of Jim Byrne, his wife Dorothy was curious about a flower high on a wall above the floor of the canyon, so Jim scrambled up a seemingly perpendicular wall with a small crack in it. and cast it down to Dorothy. Quite romantic, and an enviable display of strength and ability.

Eventually we came to deep pools in the stream bed of the canyon, into which we had to descend, and pass back down to those standing in the water, ampit deep at times, and moving, in order to protect cameras etc., Eveline Bruenger standing in this deep water did yeoman service in this department. Unfortunately, one of the packs tossed down some 15 or 20 feet had some article in the bottom which got by Eveline's out stretched arms, and she sustained a rather nasty blow, with a classical black eye as a result. Not the slightest attention did she give this incident, which must have been darn painful.

Well, to get back to our leader "Moe", he led us between the walls, but he was unable to hold back the waters, and as a consequence there was much splashing and playing in the water, by this time fairly clear, with many deliberately baptizing themselves by immersion on any and every occasion. It was lots of fun, and while the water was cool, the air was warm, and the combination was a delight. Low in Orderville Canyon, the water is a fair little stream, and at the confluence of the Orderville and the Virgin River Canyons there is lots of water. with a goodly current, as anyone who has been to Zion Canyon knows.

In many places water seeped through the sandstone formations, making very verdant and beautiful areas of growth, where Columbine and other flowers and moss and vegetation of all sorts grew in splendid and beautiful displays. The last of the hike consisted of staggering over moss covered rocks of the Virgin River, with water hip deep at times. The slipperiest rocks of all creation must lie on the bottom of the Virgin River. While many of us were tired, we were revived and inspired by the utter beauty of the Zion Narrows. We staggered ashore at the end of the trail that leads upstream to the narrows at 5:30 p.m.. Then after some complicated car shuttling we all returned to Zion Canyon Campground. We are much indebted to Barbara Nelson and to Barbara Kuehl who stayed in a very hot area all that day, in order to do the shuttle duty, which made this trip possible. Our heartfelt thanks.

The group was comprised of: Eveline & Fred Bruenger, the leaders; Dorothy & Jim Byrne; Ann & Phil Wenholdt; Jayne James; Joy & Dick Fast; Leroy Kuehl; Russel (?); Bob Nelson and Bob Cook.

To hike or not to hike ? Now to make a decision

by Barbara Evans

Five "not very bright" people - 4 men, 1 woman - convened outside the lodge a.m. Saturday June 13th - Mt. Millicent the supposed objective.

Poor choice - hiking, that is - with the weather so uncooperative. Looks sort of bad. Snow's really sloshy.

It's gonna be cold. I sure pushed myself to get out on a morning like this. Should've stayed in bed. Well, I'm still game (this from the youngster). I have no intention of going hiking in this weather (from the gal, of course).

Now, any really intelligent woman knows in a situation such as this she must do something to force a decision. With quick thinking and the help of slushy snow, such a woman would naturally back her car off the road. But, a woman wouldn't do such a thing unless she was sure a person

The Ferguson Canyon hike? It was like this, see, a dozen of these cats started from the mouth of Big Cottonwood with Alexis and Carla and their little nipper Eric packed like prunes in Alexis' four-wheel drive. Everyone was saying what a grand day for a group hike. Ha! Grand it was, group it wasn't. At least not after we dismounted and hiked to the narrows that are so lovely dark and deep. By then the fast cats were way up front and the slow ones way behind and nobody knew where nobody was. Even the trail was lost.

Streamlined Sara and Salt Desert Sam, making remarkable progress in the wrong direction, spied a peak. Sara guessed that one was Storm Mountain. Sam guessed another one. Sara heard what she thought was a voice and called a Yoo Hoo. Back came a Yoo Hoo. Hoo. Hoo from the mountain. Then, after like Gerhard would be equipped to correct the predicament.

So, the four men cheerfully (even the *#!**?* were cheerful) arranged chains, cable and jack; and shoveled snow and placed rock under wheel. And wouldn't you know, everything worked perfectly the first attempt! The car eased up to a proper position onto the road and was backed by Lair to safety.

All this took less than an hour, by which time the wind was becoming gusty and snow was descending in light flurries. Of course there was a unanimous decision to have a cup of coffee at Roy's general store before returning to the valley - 5 dry and warm individuals who will hike another day - sans soggy weather!

where the creek springs from a hundred little shaded clefts they ascended a rocky peak expecting to find a few of the party. Who did they find? Nobody, that's who. Wrong mountain.

But if the mountain was wrong the view was right. So while they sat sharing scenerey, solitude, safety pins, and lip ice (from the tube) they heard sounds of jovialty coming from the peak to the West and there sat good leader Bruce, who had ascended the right way, with Jackie who's small but oh my. Then Jerry made the summit. Later came Ruta (new member) and Mike. If the other cats made the summit it must have been on another mountain.

Altogether, had they ever got together, were Bruce Christenson, Mike Gaschler, Fred & Fannalouise Janke, Ruta Dreijmanis, Jackie Thomas, Sara Weller, Gerry Powelson, Alexis & Carla & Eric Kelner, and Sam Allan.

Look out you river rats - the younger generation is about to take over! Give them another few years and you've got some enthusiastic trip leaders! Judging from comments made by the younger members of the expedition, the trip on the Yampa-Green Rivers was a huge success!

After a somewhat sleepless bus ride to Harpers' Corner on Friday night, a few hours of restless sleep, and a quick breakfast, eleven adults and 19 children set out for the 13 mile trek down into Echo Park. This dusty road viewed from the back of a Hertz truck crowded with rafts, gear and assorted sizes of humanity was quite an experience! After our arrival the novices were initiated into the fine art of pumping up rafts; the younger members proving to be very able helpers.

The boats were launched and we soon had a delightful lunch stop and siesta for the parents. Then came the first exciting rapids, and since the river was high, the rapids proved to be all and more than even the experienced crew anticipated. But the only real near mishap came when the boat captained by Jack Petajan became stuck on a log as they attempted to get around a very large rock. Water poured over the back of the raft and they became half submerged shouted, "We are sinking!" as he paddled hard to bring the stern into the mainstream. The unsinkable raft finally settled out and the day was saved. Having overcome such an obstacle, the self confidence of the crew was greatly enchanced.

The rafts were beached late in the afternoon at the Jones' River Campground. The cool water of the Jones River provided excellent swimming and fishing for the younger members, and was marred only by large numbers of expedition parties who also found this a favorite spot. Although each family cooked somewhat independently, there was lots of time to talk and sing together.

It was decided that there was ample time Sunday morning for a hike up the canyon by the more hardy members to see the Indian petroglyphs. Those who stayed behind decided to investigate the hissing sound coming out of the Byrns's reft and discovered a large leak. No wonder it was half submerged Saturday! No time to patch it up now, so pumpers were added to the crew. The calm waters found swimmers in the water and racing and water battles ensued until our landing at Rainbow Park. A leisurely unpacking, dinner and return bus trip with exhausted kids rounded off a perfect weekend. The conclusion seemed to be that we need more family river trips!

But the best way to describe the trip is to read what the families themselves had to say about it:

Trip Captain Noel deNevers, Clancy and family:
Renee-(10)When is the next trip? The rapids were a lot more than kids! rapids though. At the end someone said it is time to push in the leader and Jim Ure jumped on Dad and both fell in. It was beautiful!
Nanette-(11)My father said there would not be mosquitoes but there were many and they were hungry!
Clark-(13)The rapids were better than I thought they would be!

Jerry and Joan Byrne and family:
Our first river trip was especially exciting due to the combined inexperience of our family and the strange hissing sound coming from our raft!
Beth-(12)When we first started out I was scared, but after we were on the water it was fun.
Maura-(11)The part I liked best was the rapids because we went so fast.
Noreen-(9)The mosquitoes were bad!
Daniel-(10)I liked the rapids very much.

Carma Norberg and sons:
I feel the boys enjoyed the river and its beauty. These family trips are beneficial for the children so they can understand and appreciate nature and enjoy it with other people with similar interest.

Jack and Ruth Petajan and family:
All of the family's expectations were fulfilled including several wild rides on rapids! It was very enjoyable.
Ann-(16)Our near spill was especially exciting!
Eric-(14)The second day was more exciting than the first!
Amy-(11)Fun, exciting, scary!

Bill and Joan Coles and family: a great first trip for the kids! Peter-(8)
Katie-(10) The scenery was sensational with all the rocks and the fantastic shapes as a result of centuries in wind and water. It was all very exciting with the rough water, rapids and sudden calm.

Jeff-(12) The splashing from the rapids was great!

Roland and Betty Ure and family:
Laurie-(10) The worst thing that happened was the ride to the river on the back of a truck. Everything got very dusty! My first impression is that it is great fun, interesting, and enjoyable. When is the next river run?
Barbie-(11) Exciting but a little bit too much so when the boat I was in got caught on a rock and our captain yelled "We are sinking!".

Jim-(14) There sure were a lot of good rapids, and I was glad to have the lone pleasure of throwing in the trip leader, Mr. deNevers.

AMERICAN FORCTUINS

by Ivan Cendese

Fearless leader Gerhard Henschel. novice Dorothy Tanner, professionals, Fred & Evelyn Bruenger and semi-pro's Bob Cook, Bob Howard, Frank Atwood and yours truly met early Saturday morning, set our goal, and conquered American Fork Twins. The valley temperature was close to 1000, but it was cool, clear and comfortable lunching on top of American Fork Twins. sun shone brightly and the beautiful day increased the enjoyment provided by an affiable group. Our enthusiastic party enjoyed the many pleasures of a well planned hike: the scary adventure of the trip along the saddle; good conversation; a cool refreshing drink at the top, some frolicking and rollicking in the snow on the way down.

It was certainly the coolest way to spend July 4th weekend for those of us who made the trip.

by Tobie Hayes

You've never seen such a full. bright moon in your entire life as glistened that delightful night of June 9th. The eight of us, directed by our leader Dick Bell hiked to Silver Lake. We wanted to proceed further on up to the ridge in order to get a more spectacular view. Well, due to some unprepared girl in tennis shoes, tripping rather pathetically through the snow, it didn't quite happen. Nevertheless it was a beautiful view, attended by the famous voice of Gerry Powelson, quick wit of Oscar and Phyllis Robison, the monastery bread of Don Carlton, antics of Danny Thomas, greenness of Tobie and Dick Hayes and lastly but most importantly the skill and pleasantness of Dick Bell.

by Harold Goodro

On June 14th, some of the club's more violent hikers started a trend of advanced hikes that was to continue for four succeeding Sundays in a row. On this day our group followed Caine Alder on his 81st ascent of Twin Peaks. The early starters consisted of Caine, Oscar Robinson, Ted Thaxton, Harold Goodro, John Thirbill, John Sutton, Don Webb, Dale Green, Karen Carlston and Kent Carlston. Snow was encountered at a lower elevation than usual, which helped somewhat in the lower basin, but soon became soft and deep, with one foot of new snow from several nights before. The trail breakers had rough going and were plunging to knee depth by the time the ridge was reached. At this point a bitter wind struck and all were obliged to put on all spare clothing and gloves. On the summit the group was joined by Ron Webber and Paul Horton, who had climbed Stair's Gulch in remarkable time. Back once more on the summit ridge we encountered Alexis Kelner, Dennis Caldwell, Karen Dahlgren, Andy & Diane Schoenberg who had carried skis to the ridge for an easier way down. Except for the deep snow, it had been a delightful day with good weather and delightful comradship with strong, steady hikers.

The following Sunday it was my turn to lead the "Beat Out" hike from White Pine to Bell's Canyon. This time the hardy group consisted of Jackie Thomas, Karen Carlston, Rob Thompson, Milt Hollander. Charlie Swift, Paul Horton, John Riley, Jean Lipley, and myself. Unbelmown to us till later, Larry Swanson was trying to catch us all day. After a leisurely snack stop on the Pfieferhorn at 9:30 a.m., we took our time along the ridge to Thunder Mountain, enjoying the scenery and the cool breezes. The snow, where encountered, was much easier to walk on than the previous hike. Glissading into Bell's Canyon was hilarious, with each person using his own technique, some of them highly original. The party got separated and while some of us waited at the reservoir, we were by-passed by the rest. We finally regrouped at the meadow, where we found Larry. We hiked out together, stopping to gaze in wonder at the usual placid waterfall, now turned into a small Niagara due to the fast melting of the snow. We arrived at the cars rather late (7 p.m.) after being on the go for 12 hours.

The following Sunday, Caine was to lead the club up Bell's Canyon and climb Lone Peak. Some of us however, after our experience with Bell's Canyon the week before, decided to climb Lone from Corner Canyon. At 6 a.m. that morning, I expected six hikers to join me in Draper. The hikers kept arriving till there were sixteen! This rugged group of characters consisted of Jackie Thomas, Karen Carlston, Marty Snyder, Ruta Dnaejmaenis, Sara Weller, Bob & Louisa Mathias (Iowa Mountaineers), Don Brikholz, Fred Platt. Sam Allan. Oscar Robison, Steve Swanson, Larry Swanson, John Riley and Paul Horton. Then, wonder of wonders, there were 3 four-wheel-drive vehicles to help us on our way. The star of the show. however, was Larry's jeep that carried two loads of eight hikers that extra couple of miles up an impassable road right to the trail start. Our next surprise was the little red and orange ribbons someone had marked the way up the mountain with. What a noble act! The air remained cool and the hikers moved fast and soon we were in the cirque. The group slpit in two, with Paul leading some up Pete's Stepladder, and myself leading the remainder up the West Ridge to the summit. The third surprise came on the summit, when Larry pulled a large watermelon from his pack! It was shared with relish by the entire group. (Between his jeep and the watermelon, Larry made many points that day.) On the North side of the mountain someone spied Caine leading his group consisting of Cliff Allsop, Milt Hollander, and Dave Smith. On the way down, glissading became all-important. and every foot of snowfield was utilized. During the ridge back in the jeep, we noticed huge patches of Sego Lilies in among the oak brush, a pleasant sight indeed.

The final Sunday, July 5th, a smaller group, consisting of Karen Carlston, Kent Carlston, Caine Alder Bob & Louisa Mathias, and myself, left our cars in Albion Basin at 7 a.m., hiked past Secret Lake, over Bald Mountain, Hidden Peak, American Fork Twins, Red Peak and Haystack to White Pine Canvon and on down to Little Cottonwood road. In spite of several lunch breaks, we arrived back at the cars at 2:30, truly time well spent. As I look back on these four hikes I can't help but realize that although the scenery and the weather play a big part in the enjoyment of a hike, it is really members that band together with a spirit of friendship and team effort that make the occasion memorable.

by Max Townsend

Our Teton trip was most successful. By Friday evening seventeen strong and healthy climbers had reached the platforms in Garnet Canyon. (Perhaps Mac Hooton wasn't so healthy; he had developed some army sized blisters on the way up, courtesy of his brand new climbing boots.) The platform area was already inhabited by other climbers as well as marmots, but we all managed to squeeze in.

Saturday our party split into four groups. The A-Team consisting of Dail and Scott Ogden and Court Richards and Susie Bauter ascended the East ridge of Nez Perce (II,F-5), while the B-Team Max Townsend, Jackie Thomas, Jim Dalgleish, John Langfeldt, Oscar Robison, John Riley, and Dick Zeamer made the summit by the Northwest Couloir (II,F-3). The C-Team Barbara Brown, Ann McDonald, Noreen Ogden, and Karen Ogden reconnoitered the Surprise Lake Waterfall Couloir in Garnet Canvon before hiking to the Lake via the trail (5 miles, 15 switchbacks). Mac Hooton and Geoffrey Zeamer remained behind to guard the camp and to salve their wounds.

The A and B teams reached the summit of Nez Perce (11,900) at the same time, after climbing about 8 hours. The descent down the N.W. Couloir was uneventful except for Dick Zeamer leaving part of the seat of his trousers there while doing a wild glissade.

The entire party left the platforms Sunday morning and had time to enjoy the park and the cool atmosphere of the Jackson Saloons before heading home.

Other Salt Lake climbers were in the Tetons during the weekend. Joel Brown and Dave George climbed the Black Ice Couloir on the Grand (IV,F-6). They were supported by Ann George and Russ George. Pete Gibbs, George Gerhardt, Dave Raymond, Paul Horton and Guy Toombes climbed the East ridge of the Grand (III,F-6). Dave Boyd established base camp at Amphitheater Lake preparatory to climbing Mount Owen by the Koven Couloir (II,F-4).

NORTH HOWSER PEAK 11,150' Bugaboo Group Southern Percells, British Columbia July 10, 1970

by T. Q. Stevenson

(1st of 3 articles on the recent Bugaboo climbing trip. Others will follow)

Early (3 a.m. EST-Bugaboo Standard Time) D. Smith, D. Allen and the writer aroused and began preparation for this enjoyable climb. The peak is the high point of the impressively Alpine Howser Spires and the entire Bugaboo Group. It has a steep West exposure which falls some 4,000 to 5,000 feet down to Howser River. The Eastern flank juts up dramatically from the neve of the Vowell Glacier; steep rock and fluted snow and ice walls tower above gaping bergschrunds and crevasses.

The pace is slow while resisting muscles are willed into terrain covering activity. Then slowly the body becomes tuned to the goals of the mind; breathing becomes less a consious effort and the pure alpine beauty can be detected and appreciated. The steps sculptured in the snow become visible with the faint brightening in the northeast. Up over Bugaboo Pass my how the snow around the schrund has melted, a short pause and on down the Vowell Glacier skirting and threading through the crevasses.

Alpenglow on the shoulder of the north ridge of the Howser Spires and over on the Conrad Group Peaks - quick, a photo before it fades. How tranquil our mountain looks. Will it accept our short visit to its cathedral?

A long slog around a corner and up the snows to the precipitous west side. Will the bergschrund bridge hold now - and when we come down? Time for a rest; it has been over 3 hours since breakfast. The rock beckons and we begin scrambling. Loose rock - be careful for the man below. After a short iced chimney the steepness forces roped scrambling with some belays.

Ah, finally off of that steep rubble pile. Not safe - it will be more dangerous to descend. Maybe we should descend off the east face.

The ridge run begins, where is the junction of the east and north ridges, where is the summit? Up on the first pitch of the run - wow - the east face is very steep. Fun climbing, short pitches, is that the traverse on a small ledge to the left? Yes, the key has been turned; only a short trundle to the summit. Avalanches slush off of the east face no descent that way.

More climbing - the mountain will not give up easily - but at last we arrive at the cathedral. It is a relief, it is a culmination of a 5 year old desire, it is majestic. Clouds and thunder west and south will Gomo be kind to us?

And now the descent. Some rappels and some down - climbing and some scrambling. Just a few more feet to the snow. What was that? A rock! Big, flat and rolling fast from 500 feet above. It flashes on to the ice patch coming our way. ROCK!! ROCK -ROCK - No time to get out of its way duck - find some protection some place some how - now! It picks up speed off, the 40 degree ice slope, bounces and smashes angrily at the slope just above us. The low moaning whir of the flying rock brands your mind. Will it miss me. It does. And it misses the others and the rope. We are lucky, very lucky. Quick lets get off of this rubble before more comes down.

It takes as long to reach the bergschrund as on the ascent; without doubt it is going to be a long day but Gomo has been kind - no rain. A short break and off we go. Make sure prussic slings are fixed. The snow has melted more; there is more exposed ice; must cut a few steps - 5-10-15.

The return is long, it is late and the sun sets. Will our snow bridges hold for the return - they do! Up to Bugaboo Pass. We share the last of Tang which was covetously saved for a possible bivouac. Better keep the rope on until we are off the snow. It is crevasse opening season; we are tired; it is dark. Almost down; just a little more snow - wish we dared to glissade. Woops! Punched a leg into a crevasse! Just a leg - no problem better move more to the right to skirt any more cracks. I am tired, be careful.

We are off the snow. Now if we can just find the trail down the moraine all will be well. Down, down, slip and slide, over the stream, ground the large boulder and back to our sanctuary. Nearly a 24 hour day. Food let-down and relax, sleep.

LAKE SZITUDE HIKE

by John Riley

The Lake Solitude hike got underway with 6 participants at about 8:20 a.m., 2 more joined the party later. The weather was clear and mild. The snow was deep but hard enough to support people except near trees where there were many breakthroughs. There was snow all the way except for a small dry spot on the road near the lower end of the lake.

The route was notable for the fact that the trail was followed only by chance. On the way back the beginning of the trail was actually located. However, the route taken was pleasant and the objective was achieved.

Many snowshoe rabbits were seen in various stages of color change. Some were white with gray feet and others were mostly gray with some white spots.

The ground squirrels were in evidence scurrying to their snow covered burrows as we approached.

Hikers were: Sheldon & Beverly Hyde, June Zongker, Marion Vogel, Ann Wennhold, Cal Giddings, Terry Wojcik and John Riley.

by Carl and Helen Chindrren

Even the drizzling rain didn't dampen our spirits as we lashed the supplies yea high to Pete's toboggan and trudged on up over the snow to the lodge.

In short order, the furnace and the old faithful kitchen range were warming the cold timbers. After three hours of hard labor, the lodge was presentable for members and guests who

SUGARZOA 4 TH

by Estelle TaFoya

Thirty-five participants met in Albion Pasin for a cool July 4th ascent of Sugarloaf. It was a great way to spend the Holiday near home and yet "away from it all". After gingerly testing the icy water of Secret Lake and deciding not to swim after-all the group proceeded up through the snowfields under the terminus of Sugar Loaf Lift. Then on up to the summit of Sugar Loaf and back to the mountain but in the ridge between Sugar Loaf and Baidy for lunch. Marty Smith amazed everyone by pulling from his pack two watermelons! And they were delicious. Lunch was followed by glissading the snowfields. Sheila Whitney showed everyone up with her speed of descent. Hikers were: Dixon Smith. Marty Smith. Hugh, Janet, Sheryl, Scott and David Gillilan, Carol Greenlee. Benita Jackson, Fred Myers, George, Carol, Arthur and Paul Edison. Spence, Sheila. Heidi and David Whitney, Boyd, Kathy, Karen and Julie Fjeldsted, Grace and Patty Ormsby, Carl and Sheila Dunn, Marian Nelson, Chauna Eikrem, John Maw, Gwen Long, Cal and Steve Giddings. Margaret and Gina Strickland. Estelle Ta Fova.

began arriving about 6 p.m..

And such a banquet this was!
These "old time" and "new time"
Mountain Club Gals can surely whip up some elegant dishes. Many bemoaned the fact that they had eaten too much and that's proof of the pudding.

We were thoroughly delighted with Betty Bottcher's slides and narration of her African trip a year ago. And Stan Murdock's movies and narration of Club activities when he was President. Imagine improvising a cement mixer out of a metal drum and turning it by hand ---many hands!

The planned potluck parties are great but many hands are required to make one a success. To all those hands which helped us, we give thanks. A special thanks to Ruth, Laird and Davey Crocker who helped haul coal and supplies to the lodge on Thursday evening. To Pete and Margo for the toboggan to haul these items and in helping with the remaining two sacks of coal. To Elfriede and Wolf Snyder who came a couple of hours early to help make the lodge presentable. To Betty and Stan for the entertainment. To the Murdocks's for their much appreciated help with the Sunday clean up. And these members who attended and contributed food: Betty Bottcher, Carl Bauer, Milt & Louise Hollander, Pete & Margo Hovingh, Robert, Jane & Rok James, Barbara Lovejoy (for the food), Steve & Norma MacDonald, Elfriede & Wolf Snyder, Bob Mealiff, Estelle TaFoya, Fern Reid, Stan & Avon Murdock, Janet & Delbert Yergensen, Carol & Del Weins. Wilma McElhaney, Chauncy & Emily Hall, Cal Giddings, Carl & Helen Chindgren.

We have been making rapid progress with the lodge. My committee is really a dedicated group of hard workers. When you get up to the lodge (for the August 30th WORK PARTY, of course) you will be amazed at the new paneling in the ladies dorm, painted beds in both dorms, new blinds and you have to see that 'kitchen counter'. Seems like whenever the lodge is used for a weekend lately, these great people take "puttering tools" along and repair all the little things.

good to see the lodge getting such membership use, the popularity is even spilling over to the week days.

Tuesday evening (July 14th) there was a small gathering of WMC members to say a temporary good-by to Estelle TaFoya. Estelle is leaving to make her home in Arizona. I say 'temporary' because she is bound to return for ski season. We want to thank you Estelle for planning and making a success of the lodge activities.

See you at the August work party!

Nine ladies met Friday, June 19th to trod the trail in Mill Creek Canyon. Liz Choules led the way up to the Ridge above the Terraces. The evening was pleasantly warm, and many spring flowers were enjoyed along the way. A few of the ladies remembered snowshoeing this same area in the winter. Liz, Kathy, and Rebecca, if I remember correctly. The steep slope must be quite challenging in the winter snow.

We all happily enjoyed opportunities to converse, but achieved solemn quiet now and then in hopes of catching a deer on the trail. A little before the trail begins it's descent to Elbow Fork, Liz had blazed the trail down the other side to join the one going to Mt. Raymond. It seemed very wild and remote in this quiet stretch of woods - nice to be off the beaten track.

Having gained the trail back to the Terraces in the bottom of the canyon, Tanya, Else and Ute elected to return to their car, with Liz to guide them, while Kathy took the lead for the rest of the group. We hiked a short way further, sat down to have a late dinner just as the last sunlight guilded the trail, and then we, too, headed back to the cars. It was a delightful evening spent with delightful ladies.

Leader: Liz Choules, members and guests: Kathy Fjeldsted, Grace & Patty Ormsby, Margo Hovingh, rebecca Price, Tanya Kar, Ilse Wightman and Ute Winkler.
