FROM THE PRESIDENT by Mike Treshow

Our nomination banquet was an even greater than usual success this year. First of all, the "Pa" Parry award for service was given to "Pa" Parry himself in appreciation of his role in founding the Club 60 years ago, and contributions made ever since, including establishing the award in 1954. Appropriately, he also celebrates his 90th birthday this year. (Some of his early WMC experiences are recalled elsewhere in this RAMBLER).

We were also fortunate to share the banquet with the State leaders of some important, relevant government agencies: Doug Barber, Salt Lake District Forest Ranger; Arthur Carroll, Forest Supervisor of the Wasatch-Cache National Forest, with his wife Diana; Donald Gillespie, Utah State Director of the National park Service with his wife Rita; and Roland Robison, Utah State Chief of the Bureau of Land Management, with his wife, Joyce. We appreciate their participation at the banquet and interest in the WMC.

The banquet was enjoyed by nearly 100 participants, many of whom stayed to dance until well after midnight. The Royal Palace turned out to be a terrific place to hold this event.

Now we begin our 61st year! Last year's Governing Board was one of the most effective (and funnest) ever. The new Board is of the same calibre, and I'm taking this opportunity to welcome each of you to the Board. I hope we have another great year.

CONSERVATION NOTES by Peter Hovingh

As the memberships in the Wasatch Mountain Club are renewed, it is also time to assess the environment. Do you have any pressing issues in which you think the Wasatch Mountain Club should be involved? Ahead of us lurks wilderness issues, State lands exchanges, clean air, sufficient waters in the rivers for river-running activities, nuclear waste, and others.

Conservation activities come to the individuals from within. For assistance in environmental matters, consult your Conservation Director. Some days there may even be an encouraging word.

NOTE: March 5, 1982 (Friday) at 7:00 PM. ADOPT A BLM WILDERNESS AREA. Room 175, Oson Spencer Hall, University of Utah campus. The famous slide presentation of the Utah Wilderness Association (put together by Bruce Hucko and John Telford) will be shown. A must for everyone!

CANOE PLANNING MEETING

There will be a meeting for those interested in canoe trips this year at Steve Summer's on March 31 (Wednesday) at 7:30 PM. All of those who were with us last year, and anyone else who has an interest should come to 1150 Wilson Avenue (1775 South off of 11th East). Trip leaders and ideas for trips will be most welcome. BYOB and I will provide the nachos. Any questions, call Steve before 8 AM (day sleeper!) at 484-9022.

SOME MEMORIES ABOUT THE START OF THE WASATCH MOUNTAIN CLUB AND MY PERSONAL EXPERIENCES (1914-1920)

As told by Calvin Parry

As a young boy of 18, the talk around town was that the Wasatch Mountains were dangerous and a place to stay away from. That made me more curious about all the wild animals that were reported to be dangerous for hikers and the such. One day, I decided to take the Park City train and when it stopped at Lamb's Canyon, I got off and hiked up to Murdock Peak. I ate lunch, rested awhile, and walked around the top of the peak and found a neighbor doing the same thing. Neigher of us knew the interest of each other in hiking and enjoying this mountain beauty. We talked all the way home as we hiked together and we made many trips as a pair of happy hikers. My partner in this adventure was Dr. Hopkins and you might say that this was the beginning of the Wasatch Mountain Club. Later, Dr. Foutz joined us on our many trips and in the meantime, another group composed of the Stonney Bros., (of Tooele), Lignel (from Norway), Curtis (from New York) and a Mr. Ammott were also hiking, and we met each other at the top of City Creek and had lunch together. After this, we seriously planned trips together and enjoyed the adventures that extended to us out of doors. We met at each other's homes where the sisters of the fellows fed us ice cream and cake. This affiliation of men was strictly a men's hiking club, but it made us very suspicious with all of the ice cream and cake the mens' sisters were so gracious to feed us. One day we planned a trip to Lake Blanche at 6:00 AM. The rules of the group were, no women on the trips. Even back then the women felt unfairly discriminated against and wanted to know why they couldn't go on the trips. So on this trip to Lake Blanche, they decided to meet us (behind our backs) at the appointed place at the old Salt Lake Theatre. We insisted they could not go, and when the J&M Truck arrived we began to load. The girls began to do the same. We insisted they could not go and began to carry them out of the truck. The girls would run around to the opposite side and climb back on. We kept putting them off, and they kept climbing back on. This collected a crowd including the police from the station that was across the street. This was a very funny scene and after everybody enjoyed a good laugh, the men gave up the cause and the girls went on the trip. The age of this group was from 18 (being my age) to the early forties.

To carry on our activities in December, we decided to take up skiing. We could find only three pair at the Salt Lake Lumber Co. and two pair in Ogden. They were glad to get rid of them because they could not find buyers before. We had to send directly to the Northland Ski Co. for the rest of the ski's. On the original equipment, all we had were toe straps. We then went back to Northland for harnesses to hold us better. We needed better harnesses so we could ski in different places. The sports editors called us fools for riding down dangerous slopes (they thought) strapped to barrel staves. That's what they called ski's that we used in those days.

The Wasatch Mountain Club introduced the sport of Tobogganing. We talked Mayor Glade into having the prison build a triple platform and plow a trench for the toboggan runs on Sunday and Wednesday nights. The prison was where Sugarhouse Park is now.

The Wasatch Mountain Club started the first slalom run, downhill, and cross country races in the State of Utah.

With Jerry Thorn and myself, the club started the first archery in Utah and later Ralph Lambert joined that cause.

Prof. Griffith from the U. of U. wanted to make Twin Peaks an annual affair. Also, the B.Y.U. wanted Mt. Timpanoogos to be an annual affair. Because of the experience of the Wasatch Mountain Club in mountain trips, we organized this for them and provided the trip leadership. At any time in history there will always be some people who can never take good advice. On the first trip to Mt. Timp. many people ignored our instructions and brought their Sunday sleeping garments, fur coats, and even mattresses and expected us to carry it for them. We didn't, of course, and most of that gear never made it 1/4 of the way up the mountain. We also organized yearly trips to Hermitage at Easter and a New Year's trip to Pine Crest up Emigration Canyon.

To the natives, Bryce Canyon was called Hell's Hole. In taking one of our trips there we were amazed at the beauty and organized several trips to include Dr. Broadhurst to take 8x10 pictures. The club gave lectures using these slides, and we drew hundreds of people to see and hear about the beauty of Bryce Canyon. The Union Pacific Railroad used many of the photographs that we took; some of those taken are still displayed.

Before the modern rescue groups that we now have in the state, the Wasatch Mountain Club served as an emergency rescue organization.

You have all wanted to know how my nickname of Pa Parry started and has lasted all these years. At one of our outings at the lodge, we seemed to run out of things to do or say and so jokingly I said, "Why don't we play house." So everybody jumped up and took a big chair, draped it with a blanket, like a king's throne, and sat me there and, as if a ceremony, and knighted me "Pa" Parry.

These remarks are but a small portion of the joy, happiness, comradery and blessings that came from my experiences with the origination and joy of growth that I have seen and felt with my friends in the Wasatch Mountain Club.

RIVER MAPS FOR BARGAIN RATES?????

There is an opportunity to purchase a variety of whitewater river maps at about 25% below what is now, unfortunately, a new higher price, if done on a volume order basis. If enough members are interested, an order will be placed. The following maps are available:

- 1. Waterproof editions of the upper Green and Yampa; middle Green from Split Mt. to the Town of Green River; lower Green and the Colorado from Westwater to Lake Powell; and the Colorado through the Grand Canyon, all at $8.20 compared with the list of $10.95.
- 2. Non-waterproof versions of the above, plus one of the upper Snake from Yellowstone to Alpine, are available for $5.25 instead of the retail $6.95. Interested members can call Chuck Reichmuth at 1-621-3834 or write him at 4214 College Drive, Ogden, 84403. Also available from the Forest Service in Ogden, at a much better price, is their waterproof edition of the Salmon Middle Fork for only $1.00.

CONCERN FOR PIEPS:

If by some miracle you find a Pieps somewhere in the Beartrap Fork area with my name on it, I hope you'll note the name on it and phone me for a well-earned reward. This note is more to remind you that if your Pieps is not around your neck, or home; keep it in a well-closed compartment in your pack.

VOLCANES DE MEXICO

by Ferdinand de Souze

One member of the WMC and two Ute Alpine Clubbers spent Christmas break in Mexico, eating fresh baked bread, drinking Tecate, and climbing volcanoes.

Ferdinand de Souze and Ted Scroggin made their halt and stumbling way up Popocatepetl's (17,781 ft) Las Cruces route the day after Christmas, while crampon trouble confined Mark Affolter to the vicinity of the hut. Three days later, when the beginnings of pulmonary oedema forced Ted, accompanied by Ferdinand, down from the Mateous hut on Iztlaccihuatl (17,343 ft), Mark went on to complete the climb for the group. New Year's Day saw all three on the summit of El Pico de Orizaba (18,851 ft).

For WMC'ers who are considering a trip to the volcanoes, the following points may be noted:

- a) if possible, fly into Mexico City early in the day and go straight to Tlamacas Lodge at the base of Popo, for a couple of days of hiking and acclimatization. At threeand-a-half dollars a night for bunks and hot showers, the lodge can't be beat
- b) the public buses will serve admirably well to shuttle you among the Mexican towns and villages
- c) a wide variety of provisions is available in even the smaller towns, so don't overload yourself with food from the U.S.
- d) gasoline is to be preferred to Mexican kerosene in your backpacking stove—the kerosene has the color of strong tea, the texture of mulligatawny soup, and generates clouds of soot

e) a knowledge of Spanish, while useful, is by no means vital, smiles and signs will do

Take the time to enjoy the unbelievably hospitable Mexican people and to savor the sights and sounds of village life. WMC'ers are encouraged to go to the Mexican volacanoes for a most memorable and enjoyable climbing holiday.

WMC HOLDS ICE COURSE

by Lew Hitchner

Provo Canyon, Utah — On Saturday, January 16, 1982 the Wasatch Mountain Club of Salt Lake City conducted its annual instructional clinic on ice climbing. A large student turn out, a strong and willing group of experienced instructors, good ice conditions, and a new training site all helped to make the event a success.

Chief instructors were Joseph A. Hall of Sandy, Utah, and John C. Walton of Salt Lake City. John Veranth, Lynn F. Watson, and George L. Swanson, all of Salt Lake City, assisted with instructing.

An indoor classroom session was held at Mr. Hall's home prior to a practice session on an actual icefall. The outdoor ice climbing was conducted on the "Stairway to Heaven" route near Bridlevail Falls in Provo Canyon. Students were able to practice on one of five top ropes set up by the instructors. Previous club ice classes had been held on the "Icicle" in Little Cottonwood Canyon. The icefall used this year allowed many students to climb at the same time and reduced the amount standing around and waiting. For those who did have to wait their turn, there was the opportunity to practice ice bouldering near ground level.

Chief instructor Hall was pleased with the student turnout, though he felt it was "too bad we didn't have more females show up." However, the lone woman climber displayed outstanding technique and "inspired some of the male egos to greater heights", said Hall.

Students graduated from the course were Mike Conklin, Larry Coulter, Ferdinand DeSouza, Walter Haas, John Kennington, Bob Mitchell, Diana Schoenberg, and Don Thorne. The WMC wishes them all good luck in their future ice climbing and would like to sincerely thank the volunteer instructors for their excellent help.

SHEEP TRAIL EXPLORATORY SNOW SHOE TOUR

by Mark Jones

On Saturday, January 17, Elmer Boyd led a group of six snowshoers and one skier on an interesting and very relaxed excursion in Parley's Canyon. The snowshoers were: Elmer Boyd, Leigh Brown, Mark Jones, Ann McDonald, (this month's cover girl) Sherie Pater and Art Whitehead. The lone skier, Gibbs Smith, obviously enjoyed the position of superiority afforded him by his skis and made sure the rest of us were aware of our lower cloassification. Well, he did make it down before anyone else.

The word "exploratory" in the trip's title would be best justified by our discovery of a porcupine high in a tree some distance to the left of our intended route. After sighting the animal, we all bushwhacked through low shrubbery, with frequently tangled snowshoes, to get a better look.

The porcupine didn't seem very grateful for our company, for he/she never moved from the tree. However, we humans enjoyed ourselves, sitting under the tree, eating lunch, and enjoying a small fire built by Elmer.

We all had a very good time which was made even better by a visit at Ann's house following the trip.

WOLVERINE CIRQUE TOUR

by Bob Wilson

Weather: Crummy to fair, with strong, gusty winds, overcast. Snow: Heavy powder to light cement. Avalanche conditions: Potentially nasty. Date: January 23, 1982.

With these inspiring conditions, leader John Riley enrolled WMC members Trudy Healy, Harrold Doeckenritz, Ken Kelly, Wick Miller, applicant Nick Bensegan and "columinst" Bob Wilson for the day's MoD Tour.

Starting from Brighton the gang zigged and zagged up the mountain somewhat parallel to the Evergreen chairlift. Thankfully John, Harrold and Wick busted out a track through the deep going -spirits ran high with the usual stories and lies being tossed back forth.

At 11:30 the party pushed past the upper terminal with the Cirque lying ahead in the snowy mist. John wisely steered away from the possible avalanche terrain and the group found shelter for lunch at the magic hour of 12:00. It was a nice spot, out of the wind - nice except for Harrold who picked a tree that bombarded him with snow throughout our stop.

With Wick leading, the seven turned North for Twin Lakes. Downhill was reduced at best to survival, but in the lake basin a helpful wind pushed us along and on up to the dam. When the downhill fun should have started, Ken Kelley bombed out of the deep stuff onto the packed snow of Evergreen and fell, unfortunately suffering a badly injured knee. The six upright members turned to help. We were lucky to be within the ski patrol area and they responded quickly and efficiently. We all wish to express our thanks to the Brighton Ski Patrol for their effort in getting Ken down to the parking area.

Our best wishes to Ken for a speedy and complete recovery.

BUTLER FORK

Crisp, crackling shadows interspersed with frosty sunshine fill Butler Fork with an early morning aura. The trail eventually yields to traverses, kick turns, traverses, kick turns (do all four kinds - keep the legs entertained). Sweat crowds at the pores ready to spill out at the first loosening of the air's frosty grip - a tenuous equilibrium.

A third lunch (or fifth breakfast) at the Gobbler - Raymond saddle. More kickturns. The appeal of the spacious open slopes increases in direct proportion to the number of kickturns. Members of another group succumb. Their undoing is scrawled in S's - linked and relinked! Meanwhile, perservere...higher is sublime.

The summit is postholes. Its got to be good skiing - I'm up to my knees without skiis.

The low point of the trip is reached just below the summit as Lori's camera pops out of her pocket and disappears unnoticed into the fluff. A spring trip is in order....

Lunch again - surrounded by Uintah's, Ben Lomond, Bountiful Peak, Stansbury's, Deep Creeks?, Twins, Scott.... Brilliant sun. The contents of my lunch bag are indistinguishable through my ultra dark glacier glasses. Dolly gives me a carrot.

Back at the skiis the mythical Lorelei awaits. Envisioned only by Rolf, she seductively beckons from a steep couloir. Just as on the Rhine, the smooth, sparkling surface is but a facade hiding the raging torrents poised to engulf the smitten. Sanity regained, a safer appearing slope is found. Eights! Corkscrews! Telemark Swoops! Shortski Swings! All to the joyous chorous of the Pieps mountain medley. O WOWOW!!!

Several summers ago I swore I'd wear long pants if I ever saw the bottom of Mill A again. So, when I heard the proposal to ski it, I decided to kind'a hang back in hopes that the brush would be trampled by the time I got there. I blew it. The brush is totally covered with snow and the snow is totally tracked up by those other eight powderhounds!

Thanks Caldwell's for a spectacular blue and white day and a complete reprieve from the Double Pole Brake.

BEN LOMOND

Clouds, wind, cold, grey, wind slab special blue, purple, windshirts, climbers, venison jerky. Symptoms and remedies.
Ben Lomond reaffirms Hollander's darkest convictions with a wee bit o' Scottish weather as 'ud make her namesake proud.

At the ridge below the summit block skiis are left with tips flapping in the wind - tails tethered in the snow. Poles continue in-hand. The classic telemark pole position keeps the mountain underfoot in spite of the wind's attempts to tip it. I get an unaccustomed yearning for post-holing, but can't kick hard enough.

A few surge ahead to the summit and have more than ample time to explore the wonders of wind eddies and deposition zones. And the view is pretty good -considering. Late arrivers are applauded with hand slapping, wind flapping, toe wiggling enthusiasm.

Going down I watch incredulously as a few (that's right: Dave, Bob, Greg, Rolf...) actually turn in this crud. Most everyone else is plucky enough to keep trying; but I give up, sit down, and wallow off the mountain with a Double Pole Brake. Pleasure is a relative thing.

Pleasure is neck deep and swapping lies in the pool that warms Ben Lomond's foot. Only wind bitten, hot spring connoiseurs can appreciate....mmmmmm.

SCOTTS PASS - ALIAS SHEEP TRAIL February 14, 1982

President's Day weekend is known for very long lift lines at all of our local ski areas; this fact alone made a ski tour a good bet. Unfortunately, the rain falling in the valley and on some mountain roads dampened the enthusiasm of many skitourers, but the die-hards who turned out had a great time.

Though originally scheduled for the Sheep Trail which starts 1/2 mile above the Mountain Dell golf course, we decided to opt for Scotts Pass, where there was more likelihood of getting snowed upon rather than rained upon. The day was warm with occassional patches of sun showing through and the snow waited until 10 minutes before we returned to the cars. Everyone seemed to be in expecially good spirits because we have become used to frozen hands and feet on tours this season and it was delightfully liberating to shed hats, jackets, sweaters and gloves.

The road to Scotts Pass is gentle and very scenic; the final steep ascent was not long enough to strain any of us. After a relaxed lunch nestled in a clump of trees near Park City's Jupiter Bowl, we descended via the road to Guardsman Pass and then cut back to the road we had ascended.

Members who still hope to try the Sheep Trail sometime soon, included: Tom Silberstorf, Sue Gardner, Ray Duda, Mark Bertelson and Carol Kalm (leader).

MICHIGAN CITY AND BEYOND

by Andy White

Nine souls, among many others gathered at the WMC tourers Grand Central Station (geology sign, mouth of Big Cottonwood), cozied themselves into one vehicle and struck out for Michigan City.

Time has left scarce remant of this once thriving minitropolis halfway up Alta's Grizzly Gulch, but a few mine dumps, shaft entrance framings, and one old tram tower (yes, there was a tram before Snowbird) still break the terrain.

Sun, shade and breeze took turns as tagalongs with the wrong two staying for lunch.

Wonderful slopes and snow for such a small priced upward trek were showered (by some more literally than by others) with attention and even affection on the return and everybody lived happily ever after.

Participants: Ilka Allers, Molly Semken, Kathy Jones, Paula Bailey, Becky Burrage, Allen Gavere, Barb Pollyea, Karl Lagerberg, and Andy White. T.I.J. (That's it Jack!)
