DIRECTORS MESSAGES

HIKING DIRECTOR

Martin Clemans

These weeks as hiking director have been busy and rewarding. I have really appreciated the help and support I have gotten.

Many thanks to Brad Yates, Pat Kottcamp, Dave Miller, Cassie Badowsky Randy Long and Robynn Sisam for all their work scheduling hikes, carcamp and backpacks and calling the organizers to get April, May and June off to a good start. I wonder how many of you realize how much time these people spend on the phone so the members can have a wide variety of activities to enjoy. In talking with these people, it sounds as if it is getting harder to find willing event organizers and is taking many more phone calls to fill the calendar.

The Wasatch Mountain Club functions only through the volunteer efforts of the members, and often it is only a few people who give most of the effort. As you get started on another summer of outings in our beautiful mountains and canyons, please plan to volunteer some time to help the hiking committee. We can use your help - either making calls scheduling activities or organizing some of your favorite hikes for all of us to enjoy - so call me at 968-1252 or 942-8902.

Again, my thanks.

LODGE DIRECTORS

Julie Jones and Bill Hughes

Special Member Discount for Wasatch Mountain Club Members desiring to use the Lodge in June. The normal fee for a 24 hour period is $225, but if you're a member and would like to use the Lodge in June for $175 a day, give Julie a call at 278-4753. Good dates are still available.

Please plan to join us on June 27th and 28th for the Lodge Work Party.. The Lodge will open at 6:30 PM on Friday. Those helping at the Lodge Work Party get free admission to the Rock and Roll Dance on Saturday evening. Bring your sleeping bag, sleeping pad and water and plan to spend the night or join us when you can. Work planned for this weekend will be general Spring cleaning. We'll take down the shutters, clean the windows and replace some broken panes, clean the kitchen, paint the new shed with log oil and start applying log oil to the exterior of the Lodge. Please bring your favorite paint brush, paint sprayer, or window cleaner. Other general maintenance may also be completed. Lunch on Saturday will be provided for workers. U.S. Gets "C-" On Environmental Report Card

The attached "report card" gives the United States a "C-" grade on its overall compliance with a series of environmental agreements forged at the 1992 U.N. Conference on Environment and Development (The Earth Summit) held in Rio de Janeiro. This information is presented to encourage all of us to take a more active role in improving our environment. The good news is that President Clinton has agreed to personally attend the upcoming "Earth Summit II" to be held at the United Nations in New York, June 23 to 27. The bad news is that Congress and the American public shows little awareness about the need to curb fossil fuel burning and the concomitant CO2 emissions. Recent trends in transportation is to buy heavier and vehicles with bigger engines and drive them at less efficient higher speeds. Each gallon of gas consumed generates almost 19 pounds of CO2. Few of us realize that a typical car that driven 10000 miles at 20 miles per gallon uses 500 gallons of gas per year which generates approximately 4.5 tons of CO2.

We need to support more efficient automobiles and alternative transportation systems here in Utah as well as nationally. Call your local legislators and our congressional representatives about how you would like to have a sustainable future for us and our children.

The attached "report card" was generated by the World Federalist Association. Its mission is to transform the U.N. into an empowered, democratic world federation. The World Federalist Campaign For Global Change advocates the empowerment of U.N. agencies such as the U.N. Environmental Programme and the Global Environmental Facility to coordinate, monitor, and assist with adherence to international environmental law.

A U.S. REPORT CARD ON RIO: MAKING THE GRADE?

This report card is a "snapshot evaluation" of American progress in implementing provisions of Agenda 21, the 300-page blueprint for sustainable development forged at the Earth Summit five years ago. A selection of five issues addressed by the Rio conference are graded in terms of what the United States has or has not done to advance them.

CONVENTION ON CLIMATE CHANGE (CCC): This treaty, signed at the United Nations Conference on Environment & Development (UNCED) in 1992 and since ratified by over 160 countries (including the U.S.), calls for measures to reduce emissions of "greenhouse" gases which cause global warming and potential sea-level rise. The Convention does not require countries to reach specific emissions levels by any particular year, although it suggests that they aim to reduce emissions to 1990 levels by the year 2000.

+	-	GRADE
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> U.S. voluntary Climate Change Action Plan to reduce CO₂ emissions by 110 million tons (1990 levels) by 2000. Law on the books permitting U.S. companies to buy greenhouse gas "credits" from other companies which cut their emissions to lower levels than required. A U.S. "Joint Implementation" program allows U.S. companies to gain "credits" by paying for factory/plant renovations in developing countries. Cuts overall global emissions, provides investment capital. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> U.S. plan to reduce emissions not binding until 2010. Department of Energy projections indicate that in 2000, U.S. carbon emissions will exceed 1990 levels by 11%. No U.S. support for carbon taxes which would provide incentives for improving energy efficiency and stimulate greater R & D of renewable energy alternatives. U.S. not committing to specific binding levels of emissions reductions in advance of key Dec. 1997 conference of CCC parties in Japan to decide whether to strengthen treaty. 	D+

CONVENTION ON BIODIVERSITY: This treaty, signed by all industrialized countries and many developing countries at UNCED in 1992, and since ratified by 162 countries, calls for national strategies to conserve biodiversity and create a list of species to be preserved. The treaty also gives nations the right to regulate access to or charge payment for use of genetic resources within their territories.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> U.S. spent $179 million for a 1994 National Biological Survey to map national resources; e.g. wetlands, wildlife habitat and plant species. Endangered Species Act considered to be model legislation for protection of threatened species. U.S. enforcing legislation to curb trafficking in endangered species by restricting trade with offending countries: e.g. ban on wildlife imports from Taiwan for illegal trafficking of endangered tiger and rhino parts. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Convention on Biological Diversity not ratified. Significant resistance in Congress to strengthening the Endangered Species Act (ESA) by providing more resources. Budgets of agencies administering ESA have been slashed. Insufficient economic incentives for landowners who protect habitat for native species. 	C+
--	---	----

GLOBAL STRUCTURES: The Earth Summit led to the creation of global institutions charged with coordinating and financing the implementation of Agenda 21. The Commission on Sustainable Development (CSD) was set up to review national plans for Agenda 21 activities. The Global Environmental Facility (GEF) was established as a specialized fund managed by the World Bank, UNEP, and UNDP to support developing country projects that mitigate global environmental problems.

+	-	GRADE
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Strong political awareness in Administration of the importance of environmental issues to the global community. Clinton may attend Earth Summit II. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> U.S. currently in arrears to the GEF in the amount of $160 million. U.S. opposed creation of CSD during UNCED, took a "no new institutions" position. U.S. cutting State Department budget; less money available to support multilateral organizations and initiatives like the GEF and CSD. U.S. disengagement from multilateral institutions adversely impacts opportunities for NGOs/civil society to become involved in global issues. 	D

OCEANS: Proposals in Agenda 21 for safeguarding ocean resources includes improving coastal management to reduce pollution, restoration of depleted marine species, and conservation measures to strengthen management of national Exclusive Economic Zones (EEZ). Agenda 21 calls for monitoring and enforcement of existing international treaties such as the Law of the Sea. None of these proposals are binding.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> U.S. passed Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act, to halt overfishing, protect fish habitat, and reduce the catch of non-target fish. U.S. Congress blocked passage of legislation which would have gutted major provisions of the Clean Water Act. U.S. is spearheading the establishment of the International Coral Reef Initiative to educate people about the importance of coral reef and to protect it. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Law of the Sea Treaty not ratified. Proposition to protect 6% of Florida Keys Marine Sanctuary voted down. Would have prohibited fishing/recreational activities in this part of the Sanctuary. 	B
---	--	---

FORESTS: Agenda 21 produced the "Non-legally Binding Authoritative Statement of Principles for a Global Consensus on the Management, Conservation and Sustainable Development of All Types of Forests", to encourage governments to safeguard forest resources. The CSD established the Intergovernmental Panel on Forests to monitor the world's woodlands. None of these proposals are binding.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> U.S. engaged in multilateral discussions on criteria/indicators to be used to measure sustainability in managing forest resources. U.S. has participated in the Intergovernmental Panel on Forests. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> U.S. rejected the effort by parties to the Biodiversity Convention to establish a work program on forests. No evidence that U.S. has followed up on UNCED forest agreements in a concerted way. No U.S. inter-agency process on forests set up in the five years since Rio. In 1995, U.S. Congress passed a timber salvage "rider" which permitted the U.S. Forest Service to hold salvage timber sales on federal lands without regard to existing environmental laws. Legislation is pending to make this permanent law. 	C
