Conservation Notes

August 2002
Will McCarvill

So we know where you live and what your phone number is!!!! The conservation group has had the application forms for joining and renewal sorted. Those members who checked the wilderness and trail maintenance boxes as activities they would work on will likely get a call from us. Yep, we're actually going to ask for some help. So you better be thinking of some clever reason why you can't before we call you up.

Comments were submitted on the Colorado River Management Plan. Currently, commercial ventures are given the great majority of permits. Self guided permits are so few that a person or group can wait decades before getting on the river. We recommended a change in this allotment process and also asked that the river be managed to become again the river that Powell found. The WMC also recommended that the Canyon Rims Recreation Area (Moab District) be managed to preserve the outstanding visual resources. Our members hike and bike this area just south of Moab. Comments were made to Representatives Hansen and Rahall on H.R 2386, the Outfitter Policy Act of 2001. While this bill brings in some better formalism in how commercial outfitters operate on public lands, it confers ownership rights to permits where the outfitter can sell, transfer, or even pass the permit on to heirs. The bill also grandfathers the current allocation of permits between private and commercial ventures. This will continue the problem we have with getting permits for boating on popular rivers.

Just a reminder, the BLM Wilderness Study Area boundary validation for the San Rafael Reef WSA is planned for September 14. The plan is to do boundary checks on Saturday the 14th, and then play in a cute little slot canyon on Sunday the 15th. We will be camping high on the Swell Friday and Saturday nights. If we get many people we can add some other WSAs in the same area for the survey.

A joint UWC wilderness unit survey adventure to the west desert will take place on October 12, 13, and 14. This is Columbus Day weekend so some people are off on Monday. The plan is to meet southwest of Delta, and split into groups to cover as many UWC proposed West Desert wilderness units as possible. It would be nice to get these inventories done this year.

The WMC got some kudos from the Forest Service at the monthly Forest Service breakfast at Lamb's restaurant. The trails maintenance efforts were recognized and appreciated by the new district ranger. The next Conservation Committee meeting is September 18 at 7PM in the Club office.

The next Adopt-a-Highway clean up is scheduled for October 19. With luck it should not be as hot as the last one in July.

BOATING DIRECTORS MESSAGE

We have no message from our very active director. Seems she is out doing her RAMBLING instead of doing her RAMBLER-ING. Hope you are enjoying your trip, Lori.

However, here are some thoughts. Notice there are no activities listed for September. Give some thought to leading a trip next year so we don't have voids in our activity schedule. Also start thinking of coming to the October work party to get our gear ready for winter storage so it will be ready to go next season.

From Bart.

Winter Sports Director's Message

Snowshoe Program 2002- 2003: I am currently looking for a energetic and dedicated snowshoer to assume residency on the winter sports committee and someone to fill the position of snowshoe coordinator. Please call me with your snowshoe resume and lets talk!

Ski Backcountry Program 2002- 2003: We will be publishing our 'heritage trips' (annual events), and other pre-planned trips in advance in the Rambler. For other weekend trips, we are looking at introducing an electronic format for these WMC activities. The rest of the world is in the electronic age, and its time for the WMC to join the crowd! This will also alleviate the pressure of activity callers trying to convince people to lead trips 6 to 8 weeks ahead of time, when no one knows what the snow conditions will be like. This will be an ALL- VOLUNTEER FORMAT where the trips can be posted on the WMC email list by organizers shortly before the desired date. As these postings require approval by the director to be officially sanctioned, a 3-day advance announcement will be required for review and release forms issued (electronically) as needed. To address the concern regarding 'capturing' these trips in the Rambler for the historical record, the director will list these trip postings in the subsequent Rambler. Of course, 'Trip Talks' will confirm and detail the event as usual in the Rambler.

An example for the 2002- 2003 is listed below:

Early Fall 2002-2003 Ski Season Tour that was posted on WMC club email list: wmc-ski

OCT 11-12 FRI-SAT SKI BACKCOUNTRY: BRUNEAU DUNES (NTD-MOD+) Edgar Webster

Don't miss out- Join the wmc-ski, or wmc-snowshoe lists. Send an email to:

majordomo@haas.dsl.xmission.com with the text (not in the header section): Subscribe wmc-ski (for the skiing list), or wmc-snowshoe (for the snowshoe list) Instructions for all lists are in the inside cover of each Rambler. We'll see you this season!!

Also, I would like to encourage all of you to start using the WMC Online Message Board for trip changes, last minute trips, things for sale or anything related to the WMC. Please post the updated info on the message board when you forward it to the lists, this is something that you can do yourselves without the help of Mike Dege, the webmaster. A notice has been posted on the front page of the WMC web site saying to check the message board for last minute info. The Message Board idea works extremely well if we can get people used to it. Mike Dege has a similar message board at the Utah Whitewater Club website and it gets lots of posts.

For last minute trips, activity updates, to sell something or comment on anything relevant to outdoor activities please check the Wasatch Mountain Club Message Board online at: <www.wasatchmountainclub.org>

MESSAGE FROM THE HIKING DIRECTOR

By the time you see this issue of the Rambler, the hiking season will be winding down. I hope that you had a great time -- I certainly did. I'm still looking at my photos from my July 4th backpack to the Park Range in Colorado, and I'm looking forward to a mid-August visit to the Sawtooth Range in Idaho. If you had a great hike or out-of-town trip, please write it up and send it in to the Rambler for others to enjoy.

Donn Seeley / Hiking Director

TRIP TALKS

Trekking Trio Tackles the Tetons

Moy Stockland and Nina Macheel joined organizer Russell Patterson for a 3 day foray into the Grand Tetons. They started out on the Teton Village gondola which took them above the cloud line and past intrepid ski trails including Corbet's Coeur and the famous Rendezvous Mountain Headwall, to the trailhead for Alaska Basin. Covering 23 miles over 2.5 days, they passed through numerous ecosystems spanning swampy lowlands and craggy, panoramic highlands. Wildflowers were lush, vibrant, thick and high. Sections felt like a Jamaican jungle, others like scenic Switzerland. The Grand Teton teased them from almost every angle, showing its many faces in shadows, sunlight, partially cloud-covered -poster-worthy in every guise. Afternoon and evening thunderstorms punctuated each day, most dramatically on an exposed traverse during the eye of a dramatic hailstorm. They returned to Utah thoroughly hydrated from the rain and ubiquitous streams and springs, hearty from the load-bearing miles covered, and refreshed in spirit from the Teton's incomparable splendor.

Trail Maintenance Day, 13 July 2002

By Chris Bilotft Trip Coordinator

The trail maintenance day on Saturday, 13 July was a success in spite of the record-setting high temperatures (in excess of 100 F). We met Forest Service staff members at the mouth of Big Cottonwood Canyon and proceeded with them to the Lake Blanche trailhead. Starting near the wilderness boundary, we worked from the bottom up clipping back vegetation, clearing water bars, and, in several spots, restoring the tread to its original alignment. Our work party included many of the usual suspects: Eveline Brunger, Knick Knickerbocker, Mike Budig, John Veranth, and Martin McGregor. The work was hot and dusty, but we were rewarded in knowing that our efforts helped to restore at least the lower half of the trail to good condition. The Forest Service staff seemed pleased with what we accomplished, and would like to develop a closer relationship with Club members who are interested in doing trail work. The next trail maintenance day is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, 7 Sep!

Park Range (CO) backpack, July 4th - 7th 2002

by Donn Seeley

So I scheduled a fine trip to the San Juan Mountains for the 4th, but by late June, the San Juans were burning. Flames were licking at the Weminuche Wilderness and it didn't look like they were going away any time soon. There were nasty backcountry travel restrictions too. No fun at all.

I checked around for alternatives. The Park Range near Steamboat Springs wasn't doing too badly. Normally the wettest range in Colorado, the Park Range was much drier than normal but it was still doing better than southern Colorado. I had never been to the Mount Zirkel Wilderness, but I liked the name, so why not?

After 7 people dropped out, we were left with a core group of 5 who met at Seedhouse Campground on the Elk River. On Thursday morning, we saddled up and packed up the Gold Creek trail. Ranger Denise from Mississippi showed off the flowers, explained about the Great Routt Divide blowdown (are those clear-cuts, ma'am?) and told us how the bark beetles and the birds were disassembling the forest. She also mentioned that the bear in Gold Creek was a nice guy and we probably wouldn't see any trouble from him (!). We hiked past Gold Creek Lake to the magnificent meadow / swamp where Ranger Denise said there was good camping, and (lo!) it was true. We set up camp, then did a day hike over the northern divide to Gilpin Lake. It was very charming and pleasant (but ask Leslie about the Columbine Massacre). It was a gorgeous day and very relaxing, with great company.

We got up early (okay, not that early) to tackle Mount Zirkel on Friday morning. The hike runs up the enormous U-shaped valley past meadows full of springs and flowers, eventually reaching a bowl with snow patches and pretty stream. Switchbacks took us to Red Dirt Pass. There was indeed a patch of red dirt up there, but it seemed a prosaic name given the amazing view down into Fryingspan Valley on the east and Gold Creek on the south. Mount Zirkel was a rough wedge at the very northern tip of a deceptively gentle (and narrow) plateau. When we reached the top, we found a very big drop and a very loud dog with very big teeth. The owner reassured us that the dog was okay, but the bristled fur, bugged out eyeballs and repeated lunges were not exactly reassuring.

After the dog left, we got to enjoy the craggy scenery for a while. But not too long a while -- the blossoming clouds began to look suspiciously dark and gray. Gayle and Leslie and I struck out for camp. We arrived just as a massive storm struck, and we dived into our tents while the thunder rolled and the hail pounded down. After about 20 minutes of this, I got a knock on my tent and I peeked out to see Aaron soaking wet and dripping mud. At least he'd made it back safely! The hail lay around in piles after the storm finally let up.

We decided that we'd had a fine backpack and we deserved a night of car camping, so on Saturday morning we packed out and reacquired our campsite at Seedhouse Campground (much to our delight). Saturday's hike took us to Three Island Lake. Once again, the monsoon blew up in the early afternoon, and we were pelted with hail as we scampered down the trail. To make up for this annoyance, we went into Steamboat for chocolate malts and Italian food. We visited the notorious FM Light store and marveled at the fancy cowboy boots and the other gawking tourists. It was a very relaxing evening -- I guess relaxation was the theme of the trip...

On Sunday we went back to Steamboat and did a hike in Fish Creek. The lower falls are tall, but the upper falls are much prettier and less crowded. Most of us turned around at the upper falls, but Steve went on to the lake; how did that go, Steve?

Summary: I highly recommend the Park Range, and even more highly recommend the company: Aaron Jones, Gayle Stockslager, Leslie Woods and Steve Negler.

TRIP TALK

BALD MOUNTAIN-BENCH LAKE AUGUST 11, 2002

A perfect day in the Uintahs--a snow-free trail up Bald Mountain, no hordes of mosquitoes, no biting flies, no sudden storms--only cloudless skies, pleasant breezes, gentle warmth, and, of course, gorgeous views. The sight from Bald Mountain summit gets an A++. First to catch the eyes are the dramatic peaks, particularly Hayden and Agassiz, then the velvet cape of evergreens sweeping across the broad valleys and studded with turquoise lakes, lustrous under a full sun. We admired this vista, our canine pals eager to sample our lunches and peek over the high ledges.

After descending the summit, we followed the trail to Bench Lake. The trail curved to the west around the base of Bald Mountain, passed meadows and ponds and Clegg Lake before it led us to our destination, a lake under a broad, craggy cliff face. We finished the remainder of our lunches and watched Abby, a year-old Labrador, swim out to retrieve sticks thrown into the water. Both the other dogs--Bosco, a terrier mix, and Seff, a samoyed mix--had already enjoyed wallowing in trailside streams. When Abby leaped onto the bank from the lake, he lay on his back, rubbing away in the soft sand, legs flailing, water drops flying onto all of us, his body banging into the nearest object--a nearby hiker--provoking some good laughs.

Two other spots were on our itinerary: Provo River Falls, a cataract over what seems to be a steep series of rock steps and, in Kamas, Dick's Drive In, where yummy shakes in such flavors as Heath Bar, Oreo cookie, or pineapple along with delicious sandwiches and sodas awaited us.

The happy travelers were Chris Venizelos, leader, Marietta Rigby, Pam Moritz, Tom Willis, Heidi DeMartis, Al Zoda, Karen Buzanoski, and Carol Anderson, trip talk writer. We accompanied Seff, Abby, and Bosco, aka Birdseye.

Charles Keller has extracted a wealth of information to create The Lady in the Ore Bucket, a fascinating history of the lumber, mining, and hydropower industries built from the rich natural resources of the canyons. The book is alive with details concerning the personalities, politics, pacts, and peregrinations of local leaders from the white settlement in 1847 through the early 1900s, and will delight any reader with an interest in the magnificent canyons that open onto the Wasatch Front. The hike will be about 9 1/2 miles long with maybe 1500-2000 feet of significant, sustained elevation change (at the beginning, no matter which end you start from, and in the middle of the hike). The trail is primarily situated along or near the ridgeline, so the remaining elevation change will mainly consist of minor ups and downs along the ridge.
