Rambler is in color on the web.

From the President by Heidi Schubert

Ten years ago, when I was living in England, I joined a “walking club”. There were 10-18 mile “walks” every weekend and 3-day weekend-away trips at youth hostels every month. I didn’t participate in the club’s administration at the time, so when I joined the Wasatch Mountain Club in 2000 I knew I was lucky to find such a great group of people but also felt it was time to step up and volunteer – to both follow and lead. I hope that over time, those of you who enjoy the club will also feel the same way. The club is worth some time and effort of your own in order to maintain it for yourself and your friends.

Thanks for everyone who has suffered through the website transition. This was a much bigger endeavor than I ever imagined, but in the end, the final product appears worth the effort. Thanks to all of you who have sent me words of appreciation. Your support was always welcome. Many thanks to Henri deBaritault of Accent on Artistry for making the site look “great” as many of you have said.

As we transition from winter to spring please remember to look ahead for multi-day trips, backpacks, boating trips and mountain bike weekends. Planning ahead always makes finding the time easier. Consider organizing one of these trips yourself. It’s always great to bring your friends together for a new adventure.

Finally, I wrote this message by headlamp while visiting Joshua Tree National Park in early February. I am reminded of how incredible our ecological world is and our role in it as stewards and protectors. Don’t forget to join the club for various noxious weed pulls, adopt-a-highway cleanups and trail maintained days this spring. This is all part of enjoying and preserving the world around us.

See you on the trail.

Heidi

WMC Purpose

(Article II of the WMC Constitution)

The purpose shall be to promote the physical and spiritual well being of its members and others by outdoor activities; to unite the energy, interests, and knowledge of students, explorers, and lovers of the mountains, deserts, and rivers of Utah; to collect and disseminate information regarding the Rocky Mountains in behalf of science, literature and art; to explore and picture the scenic wonders of this and surrounding states; and to foster awareness of our natural areas including their plant, animal, and bird life.

Conservation Notes

Gretchen Siegler

Volunteers are still needed to meet with Senators and Representatives in Washington DC March 17 through 21 for Wilderness Week. The goal is to educate our national lawmakers about Utah Wilderness. After 12 years of hostile receptions this one should be a lot of fun. Last time I was there was 9/11 and I got to see the plane crash into the Pentagon. Please contact Gretchen about this opportunity. You get a pretty good education on how the legislative process works. Maybe Matheson will now welcome us with open arms!

Speaking of service trips, it looks like there has been some motorized activities in the San Rafael Swell that are not part of the Travel Plan and some have been occurring in Wilderness Study Areas. My service trips this year will be directed at specific areas, both in and outside of WSA's to assess what is going on. This spring I will be checking out motorcycle trails in upper Lone Man Draw. There are some fantastic hikes in this area where old and unused cowboy trails can be found. The other areas are North and South Coal Washes. It's been a while since I have visited the Devil's Racetrack and the Eva Conover Trails. I'll work out the details for the next Rambler.

BOATING DIRECTORS MESSAGES

Message from Donna Kramer, 2007 WMC Boating Director:

I requested to be the next WMC Boating Director because, after many years of enjoying club activities, this position is one where I might be of most service. Thanks to WMC, I have enjoyed many activities, some challenging, some relaxing. On a WMC hike Labor Day 1991, I met my life partner and husband Tom Wood. I enjoy hikes, skiing, snowshoe, camping, canyoneering, and socials.

Most of all I love boating. I started boating with WMC in 1986. Now I feel I should 'give back' and be a more active leader. I hope to encourage participation at all levels, from novice to expert; develop wider variety of activities (canoeing, for example); develop resources for training river safety; and complete the "Guide for Boating Trip Leaders". I also want to expand information on the WMC boating web page. Personally, I look forward to networking in the general boating community in order to build support for the WMC boating program. Those with suggestions may contact me, Donna Kramer, via email at dontkramer@yahoo.com.

Pfeifferhorn – Two climbers caught, one reported as critically injured.

Good News- Joe Bullough (WMC Member) is out of the ICU now! Joe summited King's Peak with us in March (can be found on-line at www.wasatchmountainclub.org/ski/kingspeak.htm), and is well known in the local hiking/ climbing community.

Posts (Thanks Dmitry) from Brian on the incident, rescue, and Joe's hospital recovery process..

Michael Berry

Extracts from Summitpost.org's forum :

"Feb 11th

Hello, I'm Joe's brother and I wanted to express thanks for all your support here. In the days after the accident I read your well wishes to him. Even in his semi-unconscious state his facial reactions indicated he was benefiting from hearing them. Positive support like this will help him recover quickly. Yesterday he was incredible enough to walk through the hall, with a few steps unassisted. That is amazing considering it has only been one week....."

Preliminary Accident Report
Forest Service Utah Avalanche Center
Saturday, February 03, 2007
Accident Report by Drew Hardesty 2-3-07 8pm

Location:

The avalanche was on the southeast facing slope just beneath the east summit ridge of the Pfeifferhorn (large scale map) at approximately 11,000'. The Pfeifferhorn sits along the Little Cottonwood/American Fork ridgeline at an elevation of 11,326 feet. It is a common mountaineering and ski-mountaineering objective.

Accident Summary and Rescue Summary:

The two 43 year old men were attempting to climb the east ridge of the Pfeifferhorn and triggered a small pencil hard wind slab on the steep southeast flank of the ridge. While the avalanche was reported to be small, both were carried over 150' cliff-bands onto the snow-slope below. A rescue call came in at 1014 a.m., and the Search and Rescue teams with both Salt Lake and Utah counties responded, along with Wasatch Backcountry Rescue. As strong winds precluded the initial use of aircraft, WBR teams skied in from the White Pine Trailhead, only to be met by other team flown in a couple hours later. The rescue personnel were able to stabilize both men and sled them down to a safe landing zone on the Utah county side, where helicopters transported them down to a hospital in Salt Lake. It is not known whether they carried any rescue equipment, had avalanche training or had called the avalanche advisory.

Avalanche Data:

From photo observation and personal communication with rescuers, the new wind slab appeared to be 3-6" deep and 70-100' wide, running 700' vertically down the mountain. The avalanche would be classified as a HS-AF-R2D1-I, a hard slab artificially triggered by human activity. The avalanche occurred on a steep, snow-covered mountain slope. The terrain was characterized by faceted grains above a stout melt freeze crust. Clearly, the danger from the avalanche centered on the steep mountainous terrain of the Canadian Rockies just last spring.

Weather History:

The Wasatch Range received 6-10" of new light density snow from January 30th-early February 2nd. Densities were generally less than 8%. Strong winds the evening of Feb 1st resulted in numerous Class 1 and Class 2 avalanches in steep wind drifted terrain, with most being less than a foot deep and 60 feet wide. Sustained strong west to northwest winds allowed avalanche control teams at the ski areas and backcountry skiers to trigger similar avalanches on Saturday February 3rd as well. The terrain was generally smooth and free of wind-drifted snow. No natural avalanche activity was reported during the day.

2007 Awards banquet... by Michael Budig (outgoing president)

Photos by Donn Seeley

The January 13 Awards/Nominations Banquet drew a crowd of 95 people to the very eloquent Jewish Community Center. Outgoing and incoming directors were recognized and introduced. We also presented the annual awards. The event was a big success thanks to members who attended, award recipients and directors, especially the entertainment directors, Bev Emrick and Vicky McDaniel.

The Alexis Kelner Award.

Jim Catlin (Alexis Kelner award winner)

In the 1970's and 80's, the Club occasionally presented awards for distinguished conservation work to members including Bob Wright and Alexis Kelner. In 1988 this was formalized with the following statement. with the following statement:

In celebration of 50 years of active life, much of which has been spent preserving the natural beauty of the Wasatch Mountains, the friends of Alexis Kelner have established 'the Alexis Kelner Conservation Fund' to be administered by the Wasatch Mountain Club. It is suggested that revenues from this fund be spent on annual awards to individuals inside or outside the Club, who have given distinguished service to the cause of Utah conservation. These awards are to be named 'Alexis Kelner Conservation Awards'

Since then, the Alexis Kelner Award has been given to Dick Carter, Tom Berggren, Steve Lewis, Rick Steiner, Will Mccarvill, Brad Yates, Randy Klein, Ellie Ienatsch, Gale Dick, Zach Frankel, John Veranth, Gavin Noyes, Peter Metcalf and Walt Haas.

The 2007 Alexis Kelner Conservation Award was presented by Alexis Kelner to Jim Catlin. Jim currently directs the American Wildlands Utah office. American Wildlands pursues science based conservation for the northern Rockies. Jim has worked effectively and selflessly for over 30 years to protect Utah's BLM lands. I cannot think of a more worthy recipient.

The Pa Perry Award

Clarence (Pa) Perry was one of the founding members of the Wasatch Mountain Club and a jeweler by trade. In 1954 Pa initiated an award to be given to a member who had given exceptional service to the club. Recipients in recent years have included Gale Dick, Alexis Kelner, Leslie Woods, Linda Kosky, Phyllis Anderson, Randy Long, Mike Treshow, Zig Sondelski and Cheryl Soshnik..

The 2007 Pa Perry award was presented to Julie Stoney Mason by Trustee Linda Kosky. Julie has been in charge of Club rentals of the lodge for about 10 years. Her interest in the lodge was inspired by her family's historical involvement- she is a descendant Of Leon Stoney and his sons who helped found the club in 1920. Early members helped build the lodge in the 1930's and Julie's family developed a strong attachment to the structure. She has given many hours each year in providing personal contact with members and non-members who wanted to use the lodge for parties, family gatherings and weddings. And her personal concern for the preservation of the lodge has been evident in all her efforts and have helped us maintain the lodge as a living tribute to our predecessors in the Wasatch Mountain Club.

The nominating committee

Worldwide Mailing special award

Recognition of Worldwide Mailing.

For about the last seven years, worldwode mailing has generously provided their service to the Wasatch Mountain Club (at no charge) and has mailed out the Ramblers for us. This has removed a great burden of organizing and coordinating volunteers who would otherwise do themailing. In recognition of this, Rambler Mailing Co-ordinator Chris Venizelos made a special presentation to Janet Brown, who represents World wide Mailing.

Then Friday afternoon, we will go back up and move in, the work all done; kick back, cook dinner, and after a moonlight ski or snowshoe, sit around the fire with hot drinks, and watch the stars or perhaps, the snow fall. We will get together one evening before we go, on Thursday Feb 22, at 7:00, at my house, to plan and talk about technique and equipment, pair up teams, and coordinate transportation. For those who are either unavailable Thursday or are just unwilling to put in the hard work for a warm snow cave experience, you can still join our winter camp Friday and tent it, with the understanding that your tent may be 30 degrees colder than the snow cave. Mar 23 Fri ~	CANYONEERING	MOD	Canyoneering Trip to Northwash.	Sandthrax campground
Mar 25 Sun	Organizer: Rick Thompson 801.255.8058 gone2moab@hotmail.com The Irish canyons in Northwash are short, but a delight. Often referred to as a great schoolyard to learn Canyoneering 101, I see it as more of a playground. Some of us will be driving down Thursday after work, for a full three days, but if you can't get Friday off, you can come down after work, and still get in two good days. Although these canyons are light on rappelling, and more about down climbing and sliding, you do need to have taken a rappelling class, such as the one offered on March 17, so that you are comfortable and competent on a 100 ft'er. Car camping, with short and beautiful approach hikes, you will need a harness, descender and helmet, gloves and some disposable body armor. Sign up with Rick Thompson.

WINTER WILDLIFE TRACKING

Saturday, March 24th & Sunday, March 25th

The vast and ever-present array of wild “signatures” scattered about our local landscapes offer us an underused encyclopedia of behavioral, ecological, and evolutionary information. Through the mind of an animal tracker, we can make discoveries about animal behavior, adaptation, and inter-species relationships. Learn about animals’ feet and how they move, when and where they rest, what they eat, and how animals in the wild make a living in their own specific way. Indoor and field sessions focus upon wildlife adaptations, diversity, and sign types complemented by firsthand explorations of the animals’ habitats on or off-trail in various uneven terrain. Field session will be done on snowshoes (provided by REI at no extra charge). Appropriate footwear, warm clothing, a day pack, lunch, and a filled water bottle will be needed for field sessions. Field guides and cameras welcome. Tuition is $75 per participant; proceeds benefit the Cottonwood Canyons Foundation. To register, please call REI at 486-2100 and ask to speak to our Customer Service department.
